Brent S. Ferris has shared his love for trees with his clients since 1981. As a Consulting Forester, Brent strives to balance the needs of his clients, the trees and the surrounding environment with a pragmatic approach.

Brent's ingenuity allows him to maneuver tight spaces—a common issue in today's urban setting. His earnest and ecological approach transpires into a solid relationship with his clients based on sharing of knowledge, honesty and quality services.

Estimates are based upon an assessment of the physical site conditions and the client's goals. As Brent does his own estimating, you can be sure that the project will be performed exactly as discussed, and the written estimate will be your true cost (estimates guaranteed for 60 days).

A garden without trees scarcely deserves to be called a garden. Henry Ellacombe
